

The Johnson Junction

September 23, 2019

What's Happening:

I want to thank everyone who attended our first parent night! It was great seeing you interact with your child as they shared the parts of their school day with you.

We have been focusing a lot on writing our names, identifying shapes, and learning new songs.

The classroom song book is a huge hit, and I am sure your child has been singing many new songs to you at home.

Outside we have been practicing kicking and throwing balls to one another. We have also been exploring child-sized tools and construction materials!
